

NOTICE TO THE PROFESSION RE: INFO SESSIONS ON NEW DOMESTIC VIOLENCE COURT

Friday, February 2, 2018

Family law lawyers and other justice system participants are invited to attend an information session on Wednesday, Feb. 21, to learn more about the new Domestic Violence Court, opening at the Provincial Court in Halifax next month.

Representatives from the Nova Scotia Public Prosecution Service, Nova Scotia Legal Aid, the judiciary, and community organizations involved in the Court's development will provide details on court processes, expected outcomes, and eligibility. The sessions will include an opportunity to ask questions.

These one-hour sessions will be of interest to lawyers and other participants in the criminal justice system, as well as those involved in concurrent family or child protection matters.

Those interested will have three options to attend:

- 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, Feb. 21
- 11:30 a.m., Wednesday, Feb. 21
- 3:00 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 21

All three sessions will be held in Courtroom #3 at Halifax Provincial Court, 5250 Spring Garden Rd. For more information on the new Domestic Violence Court, please visit <https://novascotia.ca/just/> or contact Carolyn Baker at Carolyn.Baker@novascotia.ca.
